Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fernandez et al. (6697103), (hereinafter referred to as "Fernandez").

Regarding claim 1, Fernandez discloses an apparatus that relates to remote surveillance and communications technology (Fernandez: column 1, lines 6-8). This apparatus comprises "receiving a request from a mobile terminal" (Fernandez: column 8, lines 20-23, wherein the mobile terminal is the controller, column 9, lines 1-5, wherein the request is the user selection of the desired objects), "identifying the area that is to be identified" (Fernandez: column 4, lines 3-9, wherein common areas are identified, column 9, lines 1-5, wherein the identification is performed by the user selecting the appropriate site or link), and "orienting equipment to effect surveillance of the identified area" (Fernandez: column 4, lines 57-61, wherein orienting equipment is adjusting the pan, tilt, or focus).

Regarding claim 2, Fernandez discloses "using information from the mobile terminal to identify the area to be under surveillance" (Fernandez: column 8, lines 20-23, wherein the mobile terminal is the controller, column 9, lines 1-5, wherein the information is the data corresponding to the user selection).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 3-10 and 12-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fernandez et al. (6697103), (hereinafter referred to as "Fernandez") in view of Kawai et al. (6137485), (hereinafter referred to as "Kawai").

Regarding claim 3, note the examiners rejection for claim 1 and in addition, claim 3 differs from claim 1 in that claim 3 further requires using information from a base station to identify an area to be under surveillance. Kawai teaches that it is well known to use information from a base station to select images for surveillance (Kawai: column 1, lines 24-46, wherein the base station is where the user terminal is located, the information is the user selection for the specified camera). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to take the apparatus disclosed by Fernandez and add the information from the base station taught by Kawai since it is well known in the art to do so.

Regarding claim 4, Fernandez discloses "using information from GPS to identify the are that is to be under surveillance" (Fernandez: column 12, lines 40-49, wherein the GPS provides location information).

Regarding claims 5 and 8-9, although not disclosed, it would have been obvious to use the location of the terminal to orient a camera to focus in on the terminal (Official Notice). Doing so would have been obvious in order to obtain a surveillance system that is more diverse by being able to view not only the surroundings but also the controller/terminal itself.

Regarding claim 6, Fernandez discloses "the location of the mobile terminal is determined from global position satellite signals" (Fernandez: column 10, lines 36-42, wherein the controller is equipped with a GPS receiver).

Regarding claim 7, Fernandez discloses "the location of the terminal is determined from the wireless network" (Fernandez: column 10, lines 36-42, wherein the wireless network is the GPS network).

Regarding claim 10, Fernandez discloses "the equipment used to effect surveillance" (Fernandez: column 4, lines 57-61, wherein adjusting the pan, tilt, or focus is effecting surveillance).

Regarding claim 12, Fernandez discloses "the equipment used to effect surveillance remains focused for a fixed interval of time" (Fernandez: column 12, lines 50-67, wherein the fixed interval of time is the time the object is within view of the cameras).

Regarding claims 13 and 17, Fernandez discloses "making a recording of the area under surveillance" (Fernandez: column 9, lines 10-24, wherein the database is equipped with a storage device array for recording various statistics and images).

Regarding claim 14, Fernandez discloses "the request for surveillance from the mobile terminal is effected by activation a menu and selecting an option from the menu" (Fernandez: column 9, lines 1-9, wherein the menu is the list of websites or icons and selecting an option is clicking or selecting on the desired website or link).

Regarding claims 15 and 16, although not disclosed, it would have been obvious to use a security code on the mobile terminal (Official Notice). Doing so would have been obvious in order to prevent unauthorized access to the system.

7. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fernandez et al. (6697103), (hereinafter referred to as "Fernandez") in view of Kawai et al. (6137485), (hereinafter referred to as "Kawai") in further view of Ozaki et al. (6342915), (hereinafter referred to as "Ozaki").

Regarding claim 11, note the examiners rejection for claim 3 and in addition, claim 11 differs from claim 3 in that claim 11 further requires audio communication via a wireless network. Ozaki teaches that it is well known in the art to provide a wireless audio link for communication between two terminals (Ozaki: column 1, lines 17-25, wherein the wireless link is the cell phone, the two terminals are the different locations of the user and manager). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to take the apparatus disclosed by Fernandez, add the information from the base station taught by Kawai, and add the audio link taught by Ozaki since it is well known in the art to do so.
